WHAT TO BRING TO YOUR FIRST LESSON

Congratulations on making the decision to enroll in music lessons! Dedicating time and energy is the first step to reaching your musical goals! Here's what you should bring with you to your first lesson:

- AN OPEN MIND Starting a new journey is always a bit nerve-wracking. Give yourself permission to break out of your comfort zone and try something new!
- LESSON GOALS Why are you taking lessons? What goals do you want to achieve? Knowing this information will help you (and me) set foot on quickest path to achieving your musical goals.

3. MATERIALS

- VOICE If you are a voice student, be prepared to sing at least one song (or a section of a song) that you feel you sing well. You may bring sheet music, an accompaniment track, or you can sing it acapella (with just your voice). If you are brand new to singing and do not have a song prepared, I will have you sing something simple like "Happy Birthday" or "My Country Tis of Thee."
- PIANO If you are a piano student, please bring a piece of music you feel you play well. If you are brand new to piano, all you need to bring is a great attitude. I will provide the instructional materials. New piano students should have a working piano or weighted keyboard set-up at home prior to their first lesson. It is helpful to already be familiar with the sound and feel of a piano before beginning lessons, plus it's already set and ready for you to practice on once you return home from your first lesson!
- THEORY I will provide all music theory instructional materials. If you are currently working on a theory project or song, please bring them with you to your first lesson.
- QUESTIONS This is your musical education. Make the most of it!
 Please come prepared to ask any questions you need to make the most of your lesson experience.

I look forward to meeting you and working towards your musical dreams! Thank you for giving yourself (or someone you love) the gift of music!
